Senator Lindsay spoke to a good audience at the Courthouse Saturday evening, many ladies being present. The Senator was suffering from excessive weariness and spoke with evident pain. He dwelt at considerable length on tariff reform, and thought the interests of American workmen were best subserved by American people buying goods made in Europe in preference to buying those made in America. Over his leg this, but "everything goes" when a Democrat gets to talking about the benefits of Free-trade.

ANOTHER MURDER.

Lewis Hughes Kills Benjamin Robertson at Louisville.

Another killing. At Louisville last night there was another murder.

Lewis Hughes and Benjamin Robertson were the principals.

Our information is that Robertson and his wife were at home.

Hughes sent a boy there to tell Mrs. Robertson to come out to the fence, as he wanted to see her.

Instead of the woman going, Robertson went out when Hughes opened fire on him with a shotgun, killing him instantly.

WHO TO VOTE FOR.

CANDIDATES PRESENTED BY THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

Brief Sketch of the Hon. Samuel J. Pugh, Our Candidate For Congress—A Clean Record.

He was for five years a student of Jacob W. Rand, formerly of the famous Mayville Seminary of Rand & Richeson, where General Grant was once a scholar.

He was also a pupil of Chandler's Select School at Cambridge, and later on attended a term at Center College.

He was admitted to the bar in 1872, and in the same year married the only daughter of Hon. George M. Thomas, ex-Member of Congress and United District Attorney for Kentucky during the Garfield Administration.

Mr. Pugh has held the official position of County Attorney, Master Commissioner of the Lewis Circuit Court, County Judge, member of the Constitutional Convention, and is at present the Senator of the Thirty-first Senatorial District, having been elected by a majority of over 600 in a district that had not been represented by a Republican Senator since the war.

He introduced and secured the adoption by laborious efforts, of the provision in the Constitution looking to the establishment of reform schools for juvenile offenders, and at the late session of the Legislature secured the passage through the Senate, by a unanimous vote, of a bill carrying said provisions into effect, but the same was defeated in the House because it was an important piece of legislation from a Republican source.

In the Constitutional Convention he took a firm stand in favor of the people and against corporate greed. He also obtained the passage of a section in the Constitution doing away with double taxation, and made a fight for such a provision in the late Legislature, his amendment being adopted and passed by the Senate, but defeated in the House for reasons above stated.

Mr. Pugh began life as a poor, barefoot boy, his father a very poor man with a little hilly farm, where young Sam Pugh learned to work, and knows what it is to hoe corn and chop wood and sit astride a rail seat in a log schoolhouse. These have brought him in touch with the workmen and farmers of this District.

In all his public life there has not been the slightest insinuation against his person. He is a devoted and sincere member of the Christian Church, and carries his religion into his every-day life. Lobbyists have known better than to approach him with solicitations for his influence, and all his public acts have been those of a faithful, conscientious, plain-taking servant of the people who have confided their interests to his keeping.

Mr. Pugh's past record is sufficient guarantee for his future conduct; and if the people of this District want a faithful Representative in the next Congress they will elect him on the 6th of November next.

Austin A. Edwards is Grover's new Postmaster at Pleasant.

This is Woman's War. In New York City she has organized to assist in the laudable object of detroning Tammany.

In Indiana she is preparing to try to vote at the coming election. In Chicago and through Illinois she is registering, and Republicans and Democrats alike are uneasy because of uncertainty as to how she will vote. In Colorado more women have registered than men, and in this state the Equal Rights Association is attracting attention by the number and enthusiasm of the delegates in attendance. The present campaign will give a good idea of the result of "woman in politics."

ADDITIONAL REGISTRATION.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday Next the Days For It.

Below is one of the provisions of the Registration Law:

"Any person entitled to register who was necessarily absent from the city of his residence during the days allowed for registration here, or who was ill during said time, or who was unable to attend the place of registration on account of sickness of some named member of his family, may have his name placed upon the registry for the precinct in which he lives by attending the County Clerk's Office at the times specified in the next section and making the affidavit before the clerk, showing the fact required to be stated in the registry by Section 4 herein, and showing the absence or sickness referred to above, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday preceding the November election in each year."

The time to appear at the County Clerk's Office and register will be Monday, October 29th.

If you can't get there on Monday, be sure to go Tuesday, October 30th.

And if you can't go Tuesday, go on Wednesday, October 31st,—whether you can or not.

STOLE HIS SILVER.

Ex-Governor John C. Underwood's House Raided by a "Tout."

A colored "tout from Chicago, known under the name of Robert Wilson and William Jones, secured employment at the house of ex-Lieutenant Governor J. C. Underwood in Covington, and made off with a basket full of silverware which had been presented to Mrs. Underwood by her husband.

Detected by a "tout" named William Smith trying to dispose of a piece of silverware on Bynamore street in Cincinnati, and through him turned up the real thief and locked him up at police headquarters.

All the silverware was recovered, and Wilson confessed having taken it.

The silverware has been in the Governor's family twenty-three years this month, and on the center piece is the inscription:

"To Mrs. J. C. Underwood, from her honored guests of the R. W. Bowling Lodge of Kentucky, I. O. O. F., Grand Lodge, October, 1871."

Then follow the names of the donors: William W. Morris, M. W. G. M.; William White, R. W. G. S.; Henry Wolford, P. G. M.; H. A. M. Henderson, Grand Chaplain; M. J. Durham, R. W. G. R.; W. T. Curry, R. W. G. R.; M. S. Dowden, R. W. G. R.

The "tout" was highly prized, and the officer was given considerable credit for his clever capture.

Saturday the C. and O. Railroad was fined $35 and costs for obstructing the streets in the Sixth Ward.

A FINANCIAL PROBLEM.

It Came Near Making the Poor Chicago Lower Crasy.

Chicago Herald.

Fernando Jones, one of the old timers of Chicago, who is still to be seen in active duty on the streets of the city, told this story:

"There was a lawyer who lived in Chicago in 1853 who had a funny experience in settling a debt which he had incurred—or, I should say, the Sheriff settled it for him. There were two Judges on the third floor of the Court-house, two on the second, the clerk of the court on the first floor, and the Sheriff on the same floor opposite. The lawyer was hard up one day and wanted to borrow $10. He went to the Judge whose room was on the South side of the hall, on the third floor, and managed to get the money on condition that he pay it back in one week. The day on which the money was to be returned dawned and found the lawyer in financial distress. Late in the afternoon he borrowed from the Judge in the room opposite $10 and paid it to the one from whom he had borrowed the first $10. And the second loan was effected on the same conditions as the first. At the expiration of that time the lawyer had made out, and said to the Clerk on the second floor and borrowed $10 from the Judge in the room on the South side of the hall, on the same old condition. When that time had expired the lawyer borrowed $10 from the Judge on the North side of the hall and paid off the Judge on the South side of the hall. The next week the lawyer was still short, and going to the clerk on the first floor he borrowed $10 and paid the Judge on the second floor from whom he had borrowed. When that time came the lawyer to pay the clerk he was harder up than ever. In his dire extremity he went to the Sheriff. This was his stopping place on that side of the building. The Sheriff loaned him the money on condition that he pay it back in two weeks. The day before the last indebtedness became due the Sheriff died, and as there was no record of the loan, and no witnesses, the lawyer quit hustling. He said even, and said to the Clerk: 'But he told me afterward that he never borrowed another dollar. He said the experience he had with the ten almost drove him crazy.'"

SERMON BY GROVER.

A Few Thoughts for Democrats to Commit to Memory.

Isaiah World.

And seeing how the multitude had voted for him he cast aside his fishing pole and went up into the White House. And when he was set, and had tapped a fresh bottle of beer, he opened his mouth and taught his disciples, saying:

Blessed are the poor, for they shall be poorer.

Blessed are the rich, for they shall be made richer, and shall taste of the good things of this world.

Blessed are those who ought not to be, for they shall be disappointed.

Blessed is the campaign liar, for he is our main dependence.

Blessed are the weak, for they shall be kicked off the face of the earth.

Blessed are they who are sought, for they shall have plenty of company.

Blessed are ye when men shall revile you and persecute you for my sake, for you shall eat off the pie at my hands.

Blessed is the man who shall bring me another bottle of beer, for this one is all gone.

Blessed is the man who contributes to the campaign fund, for he shall receive an hundredfold more than he gave.

Blessed are the politicians, for we are the best of the best.

Blessed is the thief, for he shall have abundant opportunities to steal.

Blessed is the lobbyist, for he pays well and shall have the fat of the land.

Blessed are the bankers, for theirs is the kingdom of earth.

Ye are the salt of the earth; therefore salt down everything in sight.

Ye are the light of the world, for you carry torchlights in every procession.

Let our torchlights so shine before men that they can see the rooster on your hat and glorify me who art your political father.

Take heed that you provide soupsoups for the poor, for a hungry man is liable to blow you up.

After this manner shall you pray: Our political father who art in Washington, Cleveland be thy name. Thy Congress come, thy will be done in regular session as in the usual way, day after day, our usual Congress. Forgive us our political sins, even as we forgive the Republicans who sin against us. Lead us not into temptation of riches, but deliver us into poverty, for thine is the life, the office, and the power to vote, forever. Amen.

DEVILISH DEED.

A Lodging House Blown Up
With Dynamite.

Three Hungarians Killed and a Large Number Wounded.

The Building, Which Contained Between
Fifty and Sixty Lodgers, Was Shattered
In Its Entirety by the Explosion. The Bodies of the Victims Were Found
Indisputably the Motive.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 29.—A dastardly outrage was perpetrated at Flat Rock Sunday morning, wherein it was premeditated by the soundless of thirty or sixty lives by sending them into eternity with a force of dynamite. The motive was undoubtedly robbery, and it resulted in the instant death of three Hungarians, while a large number were injured, eight of whom are in a serious condition.

McDonald & Sons, railroad contractors, are building a second track of seven miles on the Lehigh Valley cut off, and at a point one mile from Fairview, in the wilds of Wilkesbarre mountain, a Hungarian camp was located, which was presided over by Miles Urelvita and his wife. The camp consisted of a rough building thirty feet square, constructed in the midst of a thicket of scrub oaks beside the track. During the night, as the custom, three of the sixty Hungarian boarders, men and women, sat up on watch, and were willing away the time playing cards.

Some time during the night a party of desperadoes secured a battery and brought it to the railroad track, from the front of the camp and connected it with a wire, completing a circuit to each corner of the camping house. A cool chest standing near by was broken open, from which were taken a number of dynamite sticks, which were distributed beneath the building. The circuit completed, it was but a matter of time before the explosion would set off the dynamite.

However, in the haste with which the mine was laid, they made a faulty connection at the battery, and when it was turned on but one, and finally not more than two, of the dynamite sticks exploded. Frank Nokoro, who was one of the party playing cards on the first floor, was instantly killed, both legs being blown off at the knee.

The building totally collapsed and was shivered into shivers, excepting one-half of the roof, which sank in, partially covering the debris. The two other men at the card table were severely injured, while the others, killed and injured, met their fate from the collapse of the building.

Occurring, as it did, before daybreak, the condition of the unfortunate foreigners was deplorable, and in their frenzied condition they knew not which way to turn or how to act. The force of the explosion was so great that the earth was torn up about the site of the camp, and their effects, in the way of baggage, cooking utensils, etc., were scattered in every direction.

As is the custom of the Hungarians, those that were uninjured commenced collecting their scattered goods and chattels, and by noon a large number of the men had prepared to take their departure, having no concern and paying no attention to their dead and injured countrymen.

A Rabbi Is Dismissed.
BRADFORD, Pa., Oct. 29.—At the request of his congregation Rabbi Weiss, of the Beth Shalom Hebrew Reformed congregation, is about to retire from the ministry in that church. This action of the congregation is in response to those who are familiar with Mr. Weiss' present religious convictions. His recently published book, "The Religion of the Future," indicates that the learned rabbi has stepped beyond the pale of orthodoxy, and that to some extent he has accepted the philosophy of spiritualism.

Well is an able writer and fine speaker. He has held the Beth Shalom pulpit for fourteen years.

A Nonpareil Injury to a Hunter.
MUNCIE, Ind., Oct. 29.—Albert Wilson was shot in the thigh Sunday by Burt Needham. The young men were driving home from a party at which they had been fishing. Two miles north of Red Key they stopped to kill a squirrel. Needham fired a shot, which struck a tree and glanced off, and was buried in Wilson's left thigh and cannot be extracted. He is dangerously injured.

A Boy's Electric Car Adventure.
MUNCIE, Ind., Oct. 29.—The 9-year-old son of Thomas Tuttle was instantly killed Sunday evening by jumping from a West Side electric street car. He was playing alongside the car and jumped on to take a ride. The car increased in speed, and while the boy was endeavoring to get down, the conductor coming from behind, he struck the car, crushing him in.

Five Years' Exploration in Alaska.
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—Count De Gaulville, of Paris, has arrived in a steam whaler Jeanette, after a five years' hunting trip in unexplored waters of Alaska and the Northwest territory. All the country he passed through was mountainous and generally wooded. He saw many valuable coal mines which could be developed at a small expense of gold in the upper Yukon river, but no rich deposit. He was unable to discover the reputed big Eskimo lake east of Mackenzie river, but found many small lakes in clusters, as well as numerous creeks.

Naval Battle Expected.
LONDON, Oct. 29.—A dispatch to the Pall Mall Gazette says that the Japanese and Chinese fleets are expected to meet in the vicinity of the Philippines, and a battle may be expected at any hour.

DISTRESSING CASE.

A Lad But Slightly Bitten by a Dog
Frightened Into Hydrophobia.
NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Joseph Norman, 16 years old, was removed from his home in an ambulance, a raving madman, Friday night. It appears that the lad has for some months been employed as a stover on the coal wharves. A strange dog wandered into a yard where he was working some weeks ago. Norman started romping with the dog, when the animal suddenly became infuriated and snapped at his right hand. The wound was not a bad one, the tip of the finger only being slightly lacerated. Norman did not take much notice of it until a couple of days ago, when it became painful. Friday night the lad returned home from work and ate a hearty supper. Soon he complained of feeling hot and started to walk in the front room. Suddenly he fell, shaking like a leaf, to the floor. His brother George and Joseph R. Russell sprang to his assistance, but could not get near him. He snarped and snarled at those who approached him. A policeman sent for an ambulance, but before its arrival the lad became violent and it was all the while the policeman tried to get him to keep him from injuring himself. As it was his brother received several scratches on the hands from the madman.

An ambulance surgeon from Bellevue arrived and injected a quantity of morphine hypodermically. While Norman was being placed in the ambulance and before the dog could have any effect upon his system, he was seized by the throat and carried from the grasp of the men to the sidewalk. He was finally placed in an ambulance, and removed to the insane pavilion. The boy's mother insists that her son's companions have done a great deal toward making him crazy by telling him hydrophobia was contagious.

THE OZAR'S CONDITION.
His Appetite Is Good, He Sleeps Well, and There Is No Change for the Worse Otherwise.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 29.—An official bulletin issued from Livadia shortly before noon said: "The emperor slept well and his appetite is good. Otherwise he is not much changed. At 7 o'clock Sunday evening another bulletin announced that the czar's condition was the same as Sunday morning."

LONDON, Oct. 29.—The Daily News correspondent in St. Petersburg, says: "The czar's bettering is a surprise to everybody. Dr. Zavarin remarked on Friday to a friend that medical science was unable to explain this turn in the case. Such a rally, he said, is not in accordance with the usual course of the disease, and it is impossible to say how it came about."

The czar will be able to take part in the shooting of the Zavarin, which is blessing the couple. The climate of Livadia is charming. The window of the sick room is kept open, the mercury standing at 75 degrees Fahrenheit. The czar's condition does not cause anxiety.

A RACE QUESTION.

Chicago Has an English-Indian Carrel on the Grounds of the City.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Over a hundred British-born residents of Chicago held an indignation meeting, Saturday night. They strongly deplored the action of Deputy Coroner Buckley, who sat over the inquest on the death of Frank Field, an English resident of the city. He met a violent death a month ago, his body being found at a street corner on the west side. The coroner's jury found his death was accidental. The majority of the Englishmen at the meeting expressed the belief that Field was murdered by a young Irishman on account of religious and race hatred. A few of those present thought he was murdered for robbery. Buckley, a prominent member of the Clan na Gael, a committee was appointed to secure evidence and present it to the state's attorney for the indictment of the murderer.

Reed-Kid Collision.
BAISTON, Pa., Oct. 29.—A disastrous freight wreck occurred on the Pennsylvania railroad at Baiston Station, Sunday evening, in which three men were killed and a score or more injured, some seriously. A young Irishman, who was riding on board about forty barrels pulled up near Corydon, and stopped to take on more workmen. While the train was at a standstill a freight train crashed into the work train.

Sunday Closing in Berlin.

John Lenars's Hatred of His Mother-in-Law.

He and His Wife Make an Effort to Prevent Her Landing.

She Is Now on the Way From Antwerp—
They Fear They Won't Receive Her
And Ask the Commissioner of Immigration to Send Her Back.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 29.—A protest has been filed with John S. Rodgers, United States commissioner of immigration at this port, by John Lenars, of Wilmington, Del., in which the latter asks the authorities to prevent the landing of his mother-in-law, now believed to be bound here from Antwerp on one of the Red Star line steamers.

The name of the undesirable mother-in-law is Catherine Gutjahr, but her maiden name, which is the one she is expected to travel under, is Catherine Kanardy. This has also been given the authorities to prevent her coming in under Lenars name. The authorities in New York have also been notified. Mr. Lenars claims that Mrs. Gutjahr's coming would make his future life miserable, interfere with his wife's and his own happiness, and that Europe is a far better place for her than Wilmington, or any other place in the United States.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Lenars have made affidavits in which they swear they will not receive the traveler should she land, and they protest against her being allowed to leave the vessel deck. Should she arrive they ask that she be sent back to the port from which she came by the vessel that brought her here. In view of these affidavits, Superintendent of Immigration Stamp has notified the authorities not to allow her to land without the treasury department's permission.

The Dubais and the Esherites.
BELLFONTE, Pa., Oct. 29.—The Dubais portion of the Evangelical church in Center county has now concluded not to submit to the recent decision of the supreme court, granting the Esherites all the church property. They mean to make a fight for the property here. The property in this county is valued at several hundred thousand dollars.
